

2/2/99

A Study of the Nātakas of Bhāsa, Kālidāsa and Harṣa with Reference to the Themes of Heroism and Love

A Thesis Submitted to the University of Śri Jayawardeneapura for
The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy
by

April 1997

Edirimuni Herlin Waturegama

147495

Contents

	Pages
Preface	iii
The Scheme of Transliteration	v
Abbreviation	vi
Bibliography	vii
Contents	xii
Introduction	xiv

I. The Changing Role of the Spirit of the Sanskrit Drama 1

The Dūtaghaṭotkaca; The Bālacarita; The Dūtavākya; The Ūrubhaṅga; The Karnabhāra; The Pañcarātra; The Madhyamavyāyoga; The Abhiṣekanāṭaka; The Pratimānāṭaka; The Avimāraka; The Svapnavāsavadatta; The Mālavikāgnimitra; The Vikramorvaśīya; The Abhijñānaśākuntala; The Priyadarśikā; The Play within the Play; The Ratnāvalī; The Nāgānanda; The Character of the Vidūṣaka and Sense of Humour.

II. The Theme of Heroism 79

The Aim of Heroism; The Treatment of warfare; The Concept of Battle and Warfare; The Glimpses of Warfare; The Rules Observed in Warfare.

III. The Theme of Love	110
Behaviour Patterns of the Heroes in Love; The Method of Sublimation of Love.
IV. Comparison with Some Greek and Shakespearean Dramas	145
Comparison with the Theme of Heroism; The Theme of heroism in the Plays of Shakespeare; Comparison with the Theme of Love; Comparison with Some of the Dramas of Shakespeare.
V. The Success of the Heroic Dramas of the Three Dramatists, Bhāsa, Kālidāsa and Harṣa	198